PROCEDURE

Introduction

Student Services itinerant teams are available to provide consultation to school personnel concerning a variety of topics and situations. Consultation requests involve no direct "hands on" contact with students by the student services worker, and, consequently, no permission is required from parent(s) or guardian(s). Consultation requests are varied, but basically they involve situations in which school staff desire psychologist/social worker input and advice on a problem involving a student.

Identification

1. Staff served: all who request consultation.
2. Services:
 - A. Review of student data and assistance to facilitate decision-making about what action to take.
 - B. Provide the teacher(s) with guidance and support regarding an identified problem student and/or situation(s) requiring attention.
 - C. Assist the teacher(s) in designing and implementing new instructional programs (e.g., behavior modification programs, discussion groups.)
 - D. Provide in-service sessions to staff on topics of interest.
 - E. Provide in-service sessions to parents and community on topics of interest.

Procedures

1. Call the office of counseling/psychological/social work services and request a consultation service. Be prepared to describe briefly the nature of assistance required.
2. Within seven working days, a staff person will call to arrange a meeting to discuss the service needs required.
