

Third Annual District-wide
High School & Beyond:
Planning your future today!
October 23rd, 2008 ~ 9:00 AM to 1:30 PM
John Stanford Center—Seattle Public Schools

Goal:

Provide a venue for students to meet representatives from local business, career mentoring programs, service learning providers and community, technical schools and universities to explore job opportunities and pathways to careers.

Objectives:

Students will be able to:

Learn about jobs that will lead to successful careers.
Learn about service learning.
Understand the pathways to these careers.
Access career mentoring opportunities.
Learn about schools and other training programs that link with careers.

Exhibitors will:

Provide information about their company, educational requirements, job descriptions and promotion policies.
Teach students how to apply to increase their chances for success
Engage students and families in discussions about their organization.
Inform students of the next steps to meet their goal.

To attend:

Buses are provided from each school to the Stanford Center for pre-registered ninth through twelfth grade students and their chaperones.
Students, parents and teachers are encouraged to attend.

For more information
Contact the Career & College Center Specialist at your school