Seattle Public Schools is committed to non-discrimination and ensuring its District-sponsored programs, events, and activities are accessible to families and members of the community with disabilities. This includes ensuring that communications with families and members of the community with disabilities, including persons who are deaf/hearing impaired and blind/visually impaired, are as effective as communication with other members of the public that participate in District-sponsored programs, events, and activities.

Any member of the general public, including parents/guardians, may request auxiliary aids or services needed for effective communication for any District-sponsored program, event, or activity that is open to the member of the public or requesting parent/guardian. Auxiliary aids and services are available upon request with no cost to the requester.

Auxiliary aids and services include a wide variety of communication services and devices that promote effective communication with persons with disabilities. Examples of auxiliary aids and services include certified sign language interpreters, real-time captioning services, translation services, written materials, large print, Braille, or electronic versions of information. The types of auxiliary aids and services necessary will depend on the length and complexity of the communication, the circumstances, and the needs and desires of the individual requesting assistance.

Response to a Request:
In order to be effective, auxiliary aids and services will be provided in accessible formats, in a timely manner, and in such a way as to protect the privacy and independence of the individual with a disability.

The District will give primary consideration to the choice of auxiliary aids and services requested by the individual with a disability. “Primary consideration” means the District will honor the individual’s choice unless:

(a) there is another equally effective means of communication available, or
(b) the use of the requested means would result in a fundamental alteration to the District’s service, program, or activity or is an undue financial and administrative burden.

The decision that compliance would result in a fundamental alteration or an undue financial or administrative burden must be made by the Superintendent or his or her designee after considering all resources available for use in the funding and operation of the service, program, or activity and must be accompanied by a written statement of the reasons for reaching that conclusion. The District will take any other action that would not result in such an alteration or such burdens, but would ensure that, to the maximum extent possible, individuals with disabilities receive the District’s benefits or services.

Should the District provide an auxiliary aid or service that is different than what is requested by the individual with a disability, the District will provide notice to the requester in advance of the District-sponsored program, event, or activity.
