Statement from Seattle Public Schools Board of Directors regarding resignation of District IV Director Eden Mack

“Director Eden Mack is a tireless and long-standing advocate for public education and the students of Seattle. For the past three years, she has focused on implementing significant improvements to district operations. Her personal integrity and commitment to ensuring the success of all children and families have made her a valued colleague. We have been grateful for her wisdom and expertise and all look forward to continuing to partner with Ms. Mack, even as she steps away from the board. We thank her for her service.”
