1. Student and Community Workforce Agreement (SCWA) Update

Ms. Locke opened the discussion with a brief overview of the work completed in implementing the SCWA. She focused the rest of her comments on work in progress and next steps.

Ms. Locke highlighted the development of onboarding processes, which will be piloted on the first five projects operating under the SCWA. She noted the significance of training contractors about the SCWA in advance of bidding on projects, in order set clear expectations.

She conveyed that while the cost risk of the SCWA to SPS projects remains a matter of diverse opinion, it does not appear to have impacted the Rainier Beach High School project in terms of contractor interest, the bidding pool, or the actual costs.

Ms. Locke provided the status of outreach and recruitment to establish the workforce diversity and employ the populations indicated in the SCWA. Large contractors are equipped to do this themselves, but discussions continue regarding how to support and equip smaller vendors to meet these goals.

She highlighted the Acceptable Worksites aspect of the SCWA program. This policy defines what an acceptable worksite is and trains project staff to recognize misconduct and respond to it.

Ms. Locke reported that a Memorandum of Understanding with the City of Seattle was in place and several staff from the City were transitioning to supporting SPS with the SCWA. The staff are trained in the relevant data tracking systems to measure the hiring, payments, and diversity of the workforce on SPS Capital projects and SPS staff will receive training starting in April 2021.

Ms. Locke outlined three recommendations for the future of the SCWA.

a. Third party analysis, at the end of the year, to assess the programmatic progress and identify areas for improvement, in advance of the second-year evaluation.

b. Establish a method to transition from contractors doing the outreach and recruitment, such as contracting with Community Based Organizations as other public agencies have done.

c. Seat SCWA experts on the BEX/BTA Oversight Committee to inform an assessment of the SCWA in advance of the next levy.

At this point, Director DeWolf departed the meeting and Director Rankin substituted as the meeting chair.

2. Capital Budget Presentation

Ms. Coan referred to the budget documents in the committee packet. She explained that revenue transfer process within and across program budgets. Ms. Coan described the significance of the program reserve, which allows for flexibility in response to changes in a given program, such as front funding a grant project or addressing cost adjustments for a project. She concluded her presentation by outlining the next steps in developing the Capital Fund budget.

Mr. Forch acknowledged that SPS has already established documentation, such as Board Policies, Requests for Qualifications, and Requests for Proposals to support the increase of WMBE participation on its projects. He described his ongoing work in the areas of pre-construction and post-construction. He concluded his comments by summarizing that a successful program requires clear solicitation plus ongoing support and rigor after the contract was awarded.
