Unsure what to say when you call?

One suggestion is: "My child needs a drug/alcohol assessment. Can you tell me about your services?"

Interagency Recovery Academy

Seattle Public Schools has a sober campus for high school students in recovery from substance use disorder. The number one goal of this campus is to provide a safe and sober environment where young people in recovery can pursue their academic and career goals. If your child is struggling to maintain sobriety and is needing a community of sober peers in recovery, call Seth Welch, Recovery Academy's Substance Use Counselor, at (206) 947-1532.
